

June 1, 2011

Important Information about Changes to the FedLine Web[®] access solution for Custodial Inventory services

As part of our ongoing commitment to more effectively provide access to Custodial Inventory services, we are making changes to the FedLine Web access solution. As of July 11, 2011, the following enhancements will be implemented:

- Custodial Inventory services Remote Vault Managers (RVMs) will be able to provide comments on Minimum Vault Holdings (MVH) assessments by searching for MVH assessments by date. Additionally, RVMs will be able to enter comments for more than one assessment and save as a single transaction. Comments will be visible in the assessment report, but they cannot be modified or deleted.
- Custodial Inventory vaults with a zero balance will no longer receive daily MVH assessment messages stating that they are in violation of the daily minimum vault holdings requirement.

Additional details about these enhancements will be available at FedCash Services Education on June 20, 2011.

No action is necessary on your part. You will see these changes within the application beginning July 11. If you have any questions, please contact your local Federal Reserve Bank Cash Services representative.

For additional information about these changes, including a customer roadmap, visit the FedCash Services Online Resource Center.