Notice of change: Account Management Information (AMI) application for seven-day accounting

In the coming months, the Federal Reserve Banks will make enhancements to the Account Management Information (AMI) application. The changes will position the Federal Reserve Banks to adopt a seven-day accounting cycle. As part of this effort, Subscribers will notice revised screens to allow for the monitoring of FedNow℠ Service activity through AMI and other minor changes. Example screens are included within this document.

As a reminder, an account holder may agree to act as a correspondent and allow its master account to be used to settle certain transactions and service fees for a respondent. Correspondents may use AMI to view their respondent’s activity including FedNow transactions and expedite reconcilement and posting functions with the daily Statement of Account and data files.

Key Terms

Non-Standard Business Day*: Saturday – Sunday, including all Federal Reserve Holidays.

Business Date: Federal Reserve accounting cycle date, standard and non-standard business days.

Inquiry Time: Calendar date and time (ET).

Daily Cycle Transition Period: There is a transition period from approximately 7:00 PM - 8:45 PM ET when the Federal Reserve Bank systems are rolling to the next business day. Users can select the current business day or the next business day on the View Balance and View Account Balance Activity screens. Users may need to access FedNow reports for the most current FedNow Services information.

Provisional: At the start of a new cycle date, if the final balance has not been calculated, a provisional balance will be provided.

Messages

Users may receive the following messages when an account activity inquiry is initiated. FedNow users may need to access FedNow reports for the most current FedNow Services information.

- Users may receive message “Some of the data requested was unavailable. Data may be incomplete.” when searching current business day during the daily cycle transition period.

1 AMI will be available by 2:00 PM ET on non-standard business days.

The Financial Services logo, “FedNow” and “Fedwire” are service marks of the Federal Reserve Banks. A list of marks related to financial services products that are offered to financial institutions by the Federal Reserve Banks is available at FRBservices.org.
• Users may receive message Data requested was unavailable for next day when searching next business day during the daily cycle transition period.

• Users may receive message The Account Balance does not include all displayed FedNow transactions when the most recent FedNow transactions are not yet reflected in the summary balance line.
The Account Balance does not include all displayed FedNow transactions.

- Users may receive message “The number of FedNow items exceeds the display threshold. 500 of xxx total items are displayed.” when there are more than 500 Transaction Code ABA level combinations with FedNow transactions. Users may need to access FedNow reports for the most current FedNow Services information.
