

Reminder: Depositing Requirements for $50 and $100 Denominations

December 8, 2016

When preparing Federal Reserve currency deposits, the $50 and $100 denominations must be deposited in full straps and/or full bundles that are faced with the portrait-side forward.

As shown in the images below, the orientation of the portrait may be right-side up or upside down, but the portrait side must face up in the strap, not down.

The Cash Services Manual of Procedures \(CSMOP\) defines depositing procedures in Section 4, which describes operational guidelines and requirements for cash transactions with the Federal Reserve. Please refer to the Deposit Visual Reference Guide for images of correct and incorrect packaging examples.

While $50 and $100 denominations must be faced with the portrait side forward, you may continue to deposit the $1 through $20 denominations without regard to direction or facing.

If you have questions, please contact your local FedCash® Services District Contacts.
