

The Fedwire® Securities Service

The Fedwire Securities Service provides cost-effective safekeeping, transfer, and delivery-versus-payment settlement services with flexible account structures and automated claim adjustment processing features and allows your institution to transfer and maintain securities in a secure and reliable electronic environment. Critical services such as issuance, transfer, and settlement are provided.

In their capacity as fiscal agents for the U.S. Treasury, federal agencies, government-sponsored enterprises and certain international organizations, the Federal Reserve Banks facilitate the issuance of book-entry securities to the Fedwire Securities Service participants. Participants may maintain multiple securities accounts and can use the Fedwire Securities Service to transfer securities to settle secondary-market trades, to facilitate the pledging of collateral used to secure obligations and to facilitate repurchase agreement (repo) transactions.

Key Features

Speed and Certainty

The Fedwire Securities Service processes securities transfers on an individual basis in real time and the transfer of securities and related funds – if any – is final and irrevocable. (See Operating Circular 7 for specific terms and conditions.) Although participants can send securities free of payment, most securities transfers involve the delivery of securities and the simultaneous exchange of payment for these securities, a process known as delivery versus payment (DVP).

Subject to certain conditions, the Federal Reserve Banks may extend intraday credit to Fedwire Securities Service participants lacking sufficient balances to cover their payment instructions. To limit risk exposure, the Federal Reserve Banks have adopted a comprehensive daylight overdraft control policy consisting of debit caps, monitoring and daylight overdraft pricing. Detailed information on the Federal Reserve's daylight credit policies can be found in the Guide to the Federal Reserve's Payment System Risk Policy, available online at www.federalreserve.gov.

Security and Reliability

The Fedwire Securities Service is designed to deliver the reliability and security you know and trust from the Federal Reserve Banks. Service resilience is enhanced through out-of-region backup facilities for the Fedwire Securities application, routine testing of business continuity procedures across a variety of contingency situations, and ongoing enhancements to recovery procedures. The Fedwire Securities Service consistently exceeds availability standards.

Flexibility and Control

You have a choice of connection options when using the Fedwire Securities Service. Internet Protocol-based access is available via either the FedLine Direct® or FedLine Advantage® access solutions, which may be selected based on volume, staffing requirements and use of other Federal Reserve Financial Services. Customers opting to access the service via FedLine Advantage will have access to FedPayments® Manager, an online tool that allows authorized users to prepare and submit messages and other requests to the Fedwire Securities Service for processing. FedPayments Manager provides information about incoming messages and offers online inquiry and reporting capabilities. Offline services, processed via telephone, are also available for lower-volume users.

Fedwire Securities Service participants may maintain one or more securities accounts, which are classified as either unrestricted or restricted. Participants typically use unrestricted accounts to segregate their internal holdings of securities from those they hold for their customers. Restricted accounts are used to pledge collateral to secure obligations related to Treasury programs, Federal Reserve discount window loans, payment system risk requirements, joint custody, and other government and federal agency purposes.

Convenience and Efficiency

The Fedwire Securities Service's automated claim adjustment processing feature for mortgage-backed securities is designed to help meet your need for efficient processing and supports fails, interim accounting, and repo tracking. Claim adjustments are processed for securities when the appropriate beneficiary is different than the holder on the record date. This optional feature allows you to add information to transfer messages that the Fedwire Securities Service then uses to calculate adjustment payments. For more information, please review Clearing Memos 219, 200, and 221, available in the Operations Resources section of FRBservices.org.

Valuable Features

As a Fedwire participant, you have access to a broad network of more than 6,800 financial institutions and government agencies. A list of active Fedwire participants is available in the E-Payments Routing Directory at FRBservices.org.

The Federal Reserve Banks offer highly competitive transaction, per-issue, and monthly maintenance prices. Account maintenance fees are waived for accounts holding only U.S. Treasury securities and for certain accounts used to pledge securities to the U.S. Treasury and Federal Reserve Banks. Service fees are available at FRBservices.org.

Hours of Operation

The Fedwire Securities Service operates daily from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Eastern Time. In addition, participants can reposition securities held in their accounts versus payment until 4:30 p.m. and free of payment until 7:00 p.m. Eastern Time. We also provide a Fedwire Securities operations status report on FRBservices.org that states the daily opening and closing times, plus any unusual disruption in service. Hours are extended on occasion at the discretion of the Federal Reserve Banks.

The Fedwire Securities Service Advantage

By providing convenient access to participants' holdings of book-entry securities, the Federal Reserve Banks contribute to the efficiency and liquidity of the government securities market. The Fedwire Securities Service can offer flexibility, efficiency and robust support for your institution.
