

FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS ENABLED TO RECEIVE ONLY

[Blog Post]

You Can Now Receive Money in Seconds

When a person or organization sends you money, do you ever wish you could receive and access that money instantly? Now you can.

If a person or organization chooses to transfer funds to you instantly through their financial institution, our new service allows that money to appear in your account in seconds. And you can use that money right away — no waiting or wondering when a payment will arrive.

How can you use instant payments? [OPTIONAL: Remove, add to or customize this use case section as needed based on your financial institution's own offerings]

There are many possibilities when it comes to receiving instant payments. For example, you may receive money instantly from:

- An employer immediately following a shift
- A family member as a gift or reimbursement
- A friend you're splitting the cost of dinner with
- A store or company refunding you money
- An insurance carrier sending a claim disbursement
- [Us/FINANCIAL INSTITUTION NAME] or another lender for an auto loan disbursement
